GOVERNOR MCCRERY'S OPENING ADDRESS.

Gov. James B. McCreary opened the Democratic campaign at Bowling Green on Monday, September 4, in a masterful speech that does credit to his sound judgment, his proved sincerity and his unquestioned Democracy. It was not the bid of a politician seeking votes by ulterior methods, but the utterances of a leader, who has the courage of his party and his state at heart. Kentucky has heaped high honors upon Governor McCreary in the past, and the mere bauble of office can have no charm for him. Did he not honestly believe that he can render a service to Democracy and bring peace and prosperity to the state, he would not take the responsibility leading this battle which is so portentous to the party everywhere.

Governor McCreary's clear mind and trained intellect has taught him to weigh well all public questions. This has given him credit for a conservatism that does not fairly describe his position. He believes that it is better to be sure than sorry; that it is safer to give a thorough consideration to matters of party policy, to give heed to the progressive thought of the voters as expressed by the majority rather than run amuck with the torch of revolution in one hand, and the sword of destruction in the other. He has firm convictions on every issue that concerns the people of Kentucky.

No fair man can read his Bowling Green speech and not give him credit for a candor and courage that his detractors are trying to deny him. He does not dodge any question. He stands four square to every wind that blows on every plank in the Democratic platform. He does not try to run with the hare, and hold with the hounds. He states his views concisely, deliberately, each word and carrying with it the assurance that he means what he says.

He does not want the vote of any man if it is to be gained by subterfuge or deception. He outlines his views on the various subjects upon which the public is demanding relief, and his voice is that of a leader and not a follower. He realizes the importance of giving an impetus to Kentucky so that people shall profit by the resources with which she is so richly endowed. They have failed to get relief under the republican administration which Judge O'Rear and his platform so heartily endorse and are looking to the Democracy to set the star of hope in the sky and follow it to victory.

Governor McCreary has met every expectation of his friends. He is his own master and his party alone can dictate to him. It is gratifying to find him entering the campaign vigorous, combative and ready to meet all comers.

NOW YOU'RE SHOUTING.

Col. Watterson is not going to "limp in the rear" after all, and we take it all back. In reply to the following from the republican Maysville Ledger:

"It's a pity that Marse Henry's eloquent pen has to be palsied by the general cussedness of the political situation. The said situation on both the Republican and Democratic sides is very much in the same fix. We reckon there never was a campaign in which the great mass of the voters was so little interested."

He replies in Wednesday's Courier-Journal:

Don't take too gloomy a view of the outlook. We have not started yet. Things will warm up nightly. Courier-Journal from the first believed, and believes now that we shall elect the ticket. The National issues involved will attend to that. Nor is the Courier-Journal in the least paralyzed. It may not be enthusiastic over the local conditions but it has seen sicker children get well and in any event it will do its best."

Every time Gov. Augustus E. Willson hits a golf ball it costs the state of Kentucky $30. Twenty for his salary and ten dollars for his substitute, Lieutenant Governor Cox. This sort of talent comes high, but the republicans do not care so long as the Treasury pays the bill.

IT WON'T WORK NOW.

(Bowling Green Times Journal.) Time was when the new hackneyed bugaboo known as the so-called "Beckham machine" suffered to aid in carrying to an extent the ends of certain designing politicians. This day, however, thanks to the good sense and justice of Kentucky's voters, is past. The ex-Governor has long since proven to even the most skeptical that he is head and shoulders above any of the men who have become prominent in political life in the past two decades. What won the heart of even his most outspoken critics was his demeanor in the late senatorial race when he was the duly accredited nominee of the democratic party and was knifed by a certain lot of political traitors, Gov. Beckham had but to say the word which would give assurance to the liquor combine that he would be "good," and the senatorial toga, so much coveted by men of political ambition would have been his. Honor, however to him was more than office, and rising in the full strength of his splendid manhood he spurned the offer and retired to private life defeated, but not disgraced. Since that time many of his former bitter critics have been his staunchest admirers and we doubt if there is a man in Kentucky who has a larger personal following than has Gov. Beckham. Yes, he is for McCreary, because he believes the ex-Senator will give the State a safe, sane and economical administration, now too, because he believes the temperance cause will fare better with McCreary and his associates in power. The more designing politicians pat Beckham to the front, the more it will help the Democratic ticket.

George Chinn won the democratic nomination for representative in Mercer county by 509 majority over Frank McGarvey. Chinn will join the galaxy of sterling young Kentuckians who will represent a number of counties of the Eighth congressional district in the next legislature. Look over these: Will Shanks, of Lincoln, John Farra, of Garrard, Francis Douglas, of Boyle, John Holland, of Shelby, George Chinn, of Mercer, Hugh Mahin, Jessamine, J. R. Paxton, of Anderson, L. B. Herrington of Madison. Will any other congressional district in the state have as splendid a body of representatives in the state legislature next session? We wot not. And another incident: They're all democrats, and are all assured of election in November.

Everytime the Cadiz Record mentions the Calloway Gazette and its Editor John Mc Melan who flopped over to the republicans—where he really belonged all the time—it uses plenty of $ $ $ $ $ to properly punctuate the article and give due emphasis to his opinion of the matter. And of course, everyone, who did not know understands the reason.

Decreasing the taxes on banks and corporations, and increasing farm lands for assessment purposes $61,000,000, is Governor Willson's way of protecting the small tax-payer. And the republican state convention and Judge O'Rear says he did right.

Whenever Judge O'Rear turns he has to face the story of his humiliating surrender to Senator Bradley at the Republican Convention. His announcement that Bradley was "the greatest living Kentuckian" has been received with a guffaw from one end of the state to the other.

The Republican State Campaign Committee is advertising the Meison brothers who bolted the democratic ticket down in Calloway county with their Murray Gazette. Judas Iscariot and Benedict Arnold also received compensation for their work.

"Grandma Young"

"Grandma" Young left this world August 25. She was 68 years 8 months old. She leaves 8 children two brothers and one sister to mourn her loss. Mrs. Young was married twice, first to Mr. Sidney Seantlin when 17 years old.

In four years after his death she was on the 28th of August united to Mr. Hezekiah Young. She was a member of the Baptist church at Shawanee Run, and lived a devoted Christian life.

Cheer up loved ones she can not come back to you, but we have the blessed assurance that if we live a life, we will meet her some day in that happy home. Loved ones, prepare to meet her, when the end comes, we may gladly pass out of this world to dwell with Jesus and our loved ones where no parting or tears are known.

She was laid to rest in Mercer county Mud Lick cemetery. One precious to her hearts has gone. A voice they loved is still, a place is vacant in their home, which no one else can fill.

The golden gates were open wide a gentle voice said come, and angels on the other side welcomed their loved one home. Earth has lost one look of gladness. Heaven seems to us no more bright, since the spirit of their loved one, took its happy homeward flight.

RESOLUTIONS.

Adopted By Lincoln County Teachers Before Adjournment.

The following resolutions were adopted by the teachers' institute before adjournment Friday.

Representing the Lincoln county Institute, we offer the following resolutions.

That the teachers be commended for the great advance they have made in professional spirit and education, for the interest and enthusiasm they have shown in the institute work, by their attendance, which has exceeded all previous records, and their response to any calls that have been made upon them, and for their progress toward higher ideals.

That we appreciate the courtesy of the various ministers who have encouraged us by their presence and counsel, of Prof. Harmon whose heart is enlisted in the uplift of Kentucky citizenship, of Mr. K. S. Alcorn whose timely reminder of what is due Kentucky children in the teaching of historical facts should be impressed upon every teacher of Dr. Carpenter whose valuable advice upon the prevention of disease should be assimilated by all teachers, and of the Kentucky poet, William Yancey Erwin.

That Supt. Singleton earns and receives the thanks of the institute for his unfailing interest and kindness and that the instructors, Prof. Robinson and Ireland, who by their thorough understanding of the question to be discussed, have placed us under great obligation for the benefit we have received from this institute.

That we approve of the measure to be introduced at the next legislature, requiring that institute instructors be licensed, and that the state, rather than the teachers, bear the expense of holding the institute.

Signed—Kate Bogle, Sallie McWhorter, Virgil McMullin.

MILLEDGEVILLE.

Mr. Sam Vanhook of Maywood was here on business last week.

Mrs. Sallie Tucker and little son Leo of Parksville were the guests of mother Mrs. M. A. Jones last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lefe Morgan attended the Albion Camp Meeting a few days ago.

Mr. John Lunsford, and mother from Indiana, are visiting here.

Mrs. Harriett Armstrong is visiting Mrs. Tyree in Brumfield.

Several attended the fair at Somerset last week.

Mr. Neal Scantlin of Indiana attended the burial of Mrs. Young.

Mrs. Walter Moser and Mr. Clifford Sandidge are attending school at Hustonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Pruitt, of King's Mountain visited Mr. and Mrs. Hail White on their way to Shaker-town.

Mr. G. W. Lunsford passed through last week on business.

Mr. George Gaddis made a trip to Burgin last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bessie McGuffey of Gilbert's Creek has been visiting here.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Hail are visiting in Somerset.

Miss Lonnie Goode is visiting here. A number of young folks including some young ladies from Parksville and other points and the young men from McCormack's church enjoyed a hay ride given last Monday night. The neighbors said that it sounded like a pack of hounds and some of them said it in an uncommon manner, too.

Out on Cream Ridge a number of men and boys threw a lot of dynamite into Mr. Seamore Wilson's yard and therefore the occupants were jarred considerably.

Mr. Pinkerton closed a 10 days meeting near Willow Grove last Sunday with good results.

McALISTER-LOVELL.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McAlister near Crab Orchard, Ky., on the 28th when C. B. Lovell and Miss Lilly Mae McAlister were united in marriage. Rev. L. P. Roberts, officiating. While Mrs. Laura Thompson played the wedding march, the attendants, Oscar Holtzelaw and Miss Maude Estelle, McAlister, Marshall Newland and Miss Mary Bess Holtzelaw entered the parlor followed by little Miss Hazel McAlister, who was carrying a handsome bouquet, preceded the bride and groom who in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives took the vow that made them man and wife.

After the ceremony the bridal party with a host of friends drove to Crab Orchard, where Mr. and Mrs. Lovell took the train for the south where Mr. Lovell has been for some years, engaged in school work and is now principal of a graded school at Unadilla, Ga. where they will make their home. Mr. Lovell is to be congratulated on winning one of Lincoln county's loveliest and best daughters who is gifted in the art of home-making and is a fine artist and musician.

Mr. Lovell is an excellent Christian gentleman, industrious and capable and all wish them complete happiness and success.
